THE MUSIC OF WORDS

Written by Margarita Engle

When we read, our minds grow wings.
When we write, our fingers sing.

Words are drumbeats and flutes on the page,
soaring songbirds and trumpeting elephants,
rivers that flow, waterfalls tumbling,
butterflies that twirl
high in the sky!

Words invite us to dance—rhythms, rhymes, heartbeats, hoofbeats, and wingbeats, old tales and new ones,
fantasies and true ones.

Whether you are cozy at home
or racing across borders toward a new land
and a strange language, stories and poems
belong to you.

When we share words, our voices
become the music of the future,
peace, joy and friendship,
a melody
of hope.

IBBY 37th World Congress: Moscow, 10-12 September 2021

Although the 37th IBBY Congress has been postponed from 2020, it is well underway to take place in September 2021. The Organizing Committee has worked hard to make sure that the Congress will take place in its original form, and have added content to make it even more attractive.

To date, 239 speakers from 56 countries (173 oral and 66 posters) have been selected. The original keynote speakers have confirmed their participation. The keynote speakers are: David Almond (HCA Award winner 2010, UK), Alexander Asmolov (Russia), Maryta Berenguer (Argentina), Zohreh Ghaeni (Iran), Mempo Giardinelli (IBBY-Asahi Award 2012 winner, Argentina), Valentin Golovin (Russia), Roger Mello (HCA Award winner 2014, Brazil), Bart Moeyaert (Belgium), Christiane Raabe (Germany), Natalia Solzhenitsyn (Russia), Zukiswa Wanner (South Africa), Cao Wenxuan (HCA Award winner 2016, China).

The closing ceremony will be held in the Moscow International House of Music in a very beautiful hall with excellent acoustics. Talented child musicians from the Vladimir Spivakov International Charity Foundation are preparing a special program for the Congress.

IBBY Russia has also inaugurated a fascinating exhibition about the founders of the IBBY sections. This will take the form of a virtual exhibition that will be focused on the founders of all IBBY National Sections. The exhibition will be projected as video presentation, which will be displayed in a special gallery at the the Congress venue.

The Congress will coincide with the first Moscow International Children's Book Fair. All Congress participants will be given free entry to the Fair!
